HOLIDAY HEALTH

There would be fewer summer mishaps and tragedies if more people understood first aid in the open, say health authorities at Ottawa. In a timely reminder of the hazards of holiday-making, the department of national health and welfare urges everyone to learn approved life-saving and artificial respiration methods, how to recognise Poison Ivy and how to provide for safe water and pure milk at resorts and in the countryside.

The difference between learning to drive a car and learning to play golf is that when you're learning to drive a car you sometimes hit something.

YELLOWKNIFE IS A "REMOTE" AREA

by Edna Jaques

On a recent trip to Yellowknife I found out just how effectively rationing works and what a blessing it is to people in those far away places where there is NO rationing.

Take canned milk for instance. You see, there isn't a cow within 500 miles of Yellowknife. Children born there know what a cow looks like only from the pictures in the story books or the films. But they have canned milk by the case. One reason why canned milk is rationed in some districts in Canada is to enable people living in these remote areas to have this vitally necessary food.

Missionaries living in the Arctic have blessed the controlled distribution of canned milk so that they can have it, not only for their own use but for their missions. Prospectors scouring the far north for gold and precious minerals have smashed their lips over a cup of hot coffee with canned milk beside a lonely camp fire in the evening. Mothers are thankful for canned milk for their children's cereal, while hospitals use it exclusively in the north.

And sugar! In Yellowknife the sugar has to come by barge from Waterways, a distance of more than a thousand miles, before it reaches the stores there. As this waterway is open only four months of the year, naturally the whole year's supply has to be brought in during the summer. Rationing couldn't be used there. But they get the protection of our rationing and declare that without rationed sugar in the more settled areas they couldn't live up there at all.

Meat—the same. The meat comes by water during the summer months, in refrigerator barges, pushed by paddle steamers. Hardly a day passes in the summer without a barge appearing to unload meat at the Con dock for the use, not only of the miners, but of the settlement as well.

With bryup, molasses, jams or preserves sent to the North West Territories, the housewife can vary her cooking because fresh fruits and vegetables are extremely scarce and also to be brought in, in price, as they have to come by plane from Edmonton.

So, rationing is a good thing all around. It not only protects us, it protects these remote areas as well by guaranteeing them supplies of goods necessary to keep them well during the dark months of the winter when daylight is something you remember, but do not see.

The new ration book No. 6 will be available between September 9 and 16. It is up to Canadians to get their own books at the place designated by the Local Ration Board and announced in the daily and weekly newspapers.

Money can't buy the new ration books. Even a millionaire can't get more than one. The ration book is everybody's guarantee that he will get his share of goods in short supply. Twelve million brand new ration books are ready for distribution.

WANT MORE IMMIGRANTS

Canada needs increased immigration, from the standpoint of prosperity, development and defense, in the opinion of a number of Canadians questioned by The Associated Press. The majority agreed that a carefully selective policy must be followed, one favored admitting only applicants from Northwestern Europe.

CANADIANS GET NEW RATION BOOKS

Yellow-covered Ration Book No. 6 (upper right) will be the constant companion of Canadian consumers for some months to come. Distribution of the new book will take place during the week of September 9 to 16 in all parts of Canada. Upper left, three householders check over their present ration books preparatory to making out the application card at the back of each book, as shown in lower left. Lower right, volunteers at a distribution centre prepare to issue the new books.

Funeral services for Adam Martinek, 68, who died in the Coleman hospital at August 27, were held last Friday from the Catholic church, interment following in the Catholic cemetery, with Father Harrington officiating. Pallbearers were: Mr. V. Walmsley, Mr. G. Bashlet, Mr. P. Simon, Mr. P. Fox, and Messrs. John and Paul Serey. The deceased was born in Czechoslovakia in 1876, coming to Canada quite a number of years ago. ## DEPUTY COMMISSIONER OF R.C.M.P. RETIRES

R.C.M.P. headquarters at Ottawa announced on Wednesday the retirement of Deputy Commissioner Frederick J. Mead after more than 46 years service with the force. He is succeeded by Henri A. B. Gagnon, director of criminal investigation.

Deputy Inspector Mead was at one time stationed in Blairmore.

Mr. Mead, 62, who came from a very large family, died while Mr. Jones, "Not also brought here with him."

Elsewhere in this issue readers will find an advertisement giving instructions what to do to secure the new Ration Book No. 6. Distribution will take place next week and you are asked to note where you may secure books in your locality, on what dates and during the hours the distributing centre will be open.

As in the past distributing centres will be staffed by volunteer workers. The local ration board district extends from Coleman to Lundbreck, Maycroft and Beaver Mines. In Blairmore, Mrs. Smith will be in charge; in Frank, Mrs. C. Vejprava; in Bellevue, Ernie Fisher; Hillcrest, G. E. Cruickshank.

We are asked to urge citizens to make sure they get their new books during the distribution week as no further distribution will take place till after September 30, and those who do not call for their book will be without ration coupons during the two intervening weeks.

Three days after the final distribution date, five sugar coupons and one meat coupon in the new book will be some valid.

The work of distributing can be greatly facilitated if citizens will read carefully the following instructions issued from Provincial Headquarters. By doing this work the work of distribution can be done much quicker.

Read these instructions carefully:

1. Before going to the Distributing Centre, fill in the green application card (marked RB-19) at the back of your ration book 5, giving:

a. Name and address (printed in block letters).

2. Serial No., as shown on front of ration book 5.

3. Age: If applicant is under 16 years.

4. Regular signature of ration book owner.

Do not tear the green application card out of ration book 5. This must be done by an official at the distributing centre.

SETTLING UP

That suggestion "Get out of bed on the right side" isn't just funny, say Ottawa health authorities. The physical fitness division of the department of national health and welfare points out that the start of a day is all-important. They suggest that those who would conserve and build up health sacrifice a few minutes in bed to get up and "set up."

"Open the window wide" they say, "breathe deeply, and then start out to meet life with a smile by starting to work."

The atom bomb will end this. Smyth's farm house and was killed by the bomb. If we build a new one first, by professional designers Ernest Cook.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Albert Wendt has harvested a field of 39 acres of fall rye that made an average of 49 bushels per acre.

Harvesting is again held up here this week on account of rain. Thousands of acres of golden grain are ready to be harvested. When the weather clears no time will be lost taking care of the grain fields here. The average yield will be well above normal this year. An estimate of eleven per cent of the harvesting is now completed here.

Mrs. McArthur, of Buffalo, New York, is now spending a month, visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McMillan.

The Cowley school re-opened on Tuesday for the ensuing term with Mrs. Griffith Parry teaching the Junior room and Mr. Peter Iwasak teaching the senior room. Both rooms of the school are well filled with pupils. There is an additional attendance of twenty pupils in the senior room 4:30 to 6 p.m., terming in vans from Buffalo and Lundbreck districts. This arrangement was made to help take care of the shortage of teachers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Clinton's two oldest daughters are attending school in Picher Creek for the coming school term.

Doctor and Mrs. McMath of Gardena, California, can't stay away from Alberta and now are again making their annual tour of four fair provinces. They are stopping over here for a visit with Mrs. McMath's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Vieth, of the Porcupine Hills district.

Nick Parry's wife and infant son have arrived from England. Nick served several years overseas in World War II and while over there he met and married his future bride. In the service he held rank of WO1.

The first of the community stock sales for this fall was held at Lundbreck on Thursday, Sept. 6th, when five hundred head of cattle were auctioned off. Tops went to Carl Sjogren for steers at 13.50, top heifers went at 12.10 and cows at 11.10. Buyers were Dominion Packing Co., Canada Packers, Burns, Swift's, and Cohen. Enthusiasm ran high with the large crowd that attended the sale.

A hauling water for a number of years, Russell Smyth struck a spring vein of good water at a depth of 48 feet. The well was sunk only a few feet from the kitchen door of Mr. Smyth's farm house and was drilled by the atom bomb will end this. Smyth's farm house and was killed by the bomb. If we build a new one first, by professional designers Ernest Cook.

BLAIRMORE MAN

FLYING TO EUROPE

Mr. Zak was associated with the meat business in this city 32 years ago working with his brother, Tony Zak, and the late Robert Coultry. He enlisted in the First Great War, going overseas in 1916 and on his return took up residence at Blairmore. He now has two grocery and meat stores at Coleman and Bellevue run by his sons.

In Czechoslovakia he will visit a brother and two sisters—Lethbridge Herald.

ROOSEVELT MEMORIAL UNVEILED AT CAMPOBELLO

At Campobello Island, New Brunswick, where the late President Roosevelt spent many vacations in his early life, and to which he came for a honeymoon, a monument has been unveiled in honor of his memory.

To him Campobello was always the "beloved island" and he continued to visit it whenever possible during his whole lifetime.

His long and happy association with this Canadian beauty spot has now been suitably commemorated as a matter of national importance. The monument, made from New Brunswick granite, stands in front of the public library at Wolsboro. Affixed to it is a bronze tablet bearing this inscription:

"In happy memory of Franklin Delano Roosevelt 1882-1945. Statesman and humanitarian, who during the many years of his eventful life, endeavored to bring peace, rest, refreshment, and freedom from care. To him it was always the beloved island."

Taking part in the official ceremony were the Honorable J. A. Glen, minister of marine and resources, speaking on behalf of the Government of Canada; Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt; Honorable Ray Atherton, United States Ambassador to Canada; Honorable D. I. MacLaurin, Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick, who unveiled the monument; Honorable John B. McNair, premier of New Brunswick; Mr. J. F. Calder, president of the Campobello Board of Trade; and Reverend J. J. Alexander, of Moncton, who conducted the invocation and benediction. Dr. J. Charles Webster, of Shelburne, New Brunswick, chairman of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada, who conceived the idea of such a memorial and was largely responsible for arrangements in connection with the unveiling ceremony, acted as chairman. He read a letter from the Prime Minister of Canada regretting inability to be present.

The official party was conveyed from St. Andrews-by-the-Sea to Wolsboro on board the Canadian destroyer H.M.C.S. "Mimosa." A detachment of fifty ratings from this destroyer and thirty enlisted men from the U.S.S. "O'Hare" mounted the guard of honor at the monument. The combined guards came to the salute as the monument was unveiled.

A detachment of Royal Canadian Mounted Police escorted Mrs. Roosevelt and members of her family from their summer residence on the island to the memorial site.

SUBSCRIBE TODAY!

He acted as water dower, advising the particular spot where water would be found. Mr. Cockrill seldom fails in advising where to sink a well.

Years ago Mr. Smyth had a good spring of water near by which served him well, but as time advanced this spring went dry for reasons unknown, hence the necessity of drilling for water.

The Matter Of Immigration Is Being Studied

OTTAWA.—The Canadian government is aware that it must announce an immigration policy and a sub-committee of the cabinet is now working on the formation of such a policy, Hon. J. A. Glen, minister of resources told the house of commons.

In addition, an inter-departmental committee of "high-ranking government officials" is studying different questions dealing with immigration and it will advise the cabinet in the preparation of the Dominion's immigration policy, said the minister.

The government was being urged in some quarters to promote selective immigration and "at the same time was being advised that there should be no discrimination."

"I do not see," he said, "how we can have selective immigration without discrimination."

In regard to refugees he said this was an international problem in which Canada would share through the United Nations organization, which would be meeting in September. He presumed that Canada would be asked to accept some of the refugees and stateless persons of Europe and would have to assume her obligations as a member of the United Nations.

Referring to British immigrants the minister said anyone who went to the department's offices in England and had the medical inspection could come to Canada provided settlement conditions in this country were satisfactory and if a big "if" they could get transportation.

Mr. Glen emphasized the shortage of shipping. He pointed out there were still many thousands of servicemen and dependents of servicemen to be brought to Canada from overseas, who rightly had priority with regard to shipping space.

Accordingly he did not think it was likely that in the next two months there would be any degree of transportation of immigrants to Canada from the continent. As for the British Isles there were many who were ready and willing to come and whose settlement conditions were such that they could be accepted immediately, were it not for the fact they could not get transportation.

"There was another vexing question of bringing to Canada the fiancées of Canadian overseas veterans. Priority had been given first to wives and children of Canadian servicemen rather than to the fiancées."

"There has been an indication given that the Scandinavian line are going to send some vessels and also the Holland-American line. But these ships may convey only a very few of those who are on the continent now. We have about 2,000 fiancées and dependents. They have no transportation as yet," said Mr. Glen.

To those who said Canada had closed her doors tight on admissions to this country the minister pointed out that this country had taken in 4,000 refugees from Great Britain during the war. In addition arrangements were now being made to bring 4,000 Polish soldiers from Italy who would be apportioned throughout the Dominion in agricultural areas.

HOPES FOR PEACE

Depend On Relations Between Western Democracies And Russia

PARIS.—The future peace on the signing of treaties as "on the relations between the western democracies and Soviet Russia," Brooke Claxton, Canadian minister of national health and welfare said in a recorded broadcast to Canada, Glen.

Mr. Claxton said progress was slow at the Paris peace conference because of the complexity of the problems involved and because all the speeches had to be translated into three languages, French, English and Russian.

"The Allied and associate nations at the conference were divided by a line which was 'as strong as the iron curtain which separates half the world'."

Two "totally different" views presented at the conference also retarded progress.

JUST EXPERIMENT

Doctors Trying Atomic Medicine On Three-Year-Old Child

BOSTON.—The last of three doses of a by-product of deuterium-dealing atomic energy has been given a three-year-old child in an experiment to keep him alive.

Little Janice Moschella, a girl with radio-activated phosphorus prepared on the University of Illinois cyclotron—shortly after doctors gave her a blood transfusion to keep her from succumbing from a malignant infection of the liver.

Meanwhile, Dr. Saul Hertz, Boston specialist, said it would be about three weeks before the results of the first published attempt to cure with atomic energy will be known.

SMUTS TRIES AGAIN—Only statesman among the representatives of 21 nations at the Paris peace conference who was also at the Versailles talks. Field-Marshal Jan Smuts, prime minister of South Africa, has taken his seat at the conference chamber.

Will Amend Pensions Act For The Militia

OTTAWA.—The commons gave its sanction to a bill to amend the militia pension act, covering the three permanent forces, to bring it in line with the civil service superannuation act.

With senate approval, it will require all new members of the forces to contribute to a pension fund, whereas formerly only officers and warrant officers contributed and only their widows and children were protected. Old members can come under the new or old provision, as they decide for themselves.

Appearance of the bill for second reading was the signal for an attack by Capt. John Probe (C.C.F., Regina City) against a system which enabled permanent force officers to retire at comparatively young ages with large pensions while old age pension remain "miserable pittance."

A pre-war major had retired as a major-general at the age of 47 and would receive $4,947 annually for the rest of his life. A Progressive Conservative member received as pension "in the neighborhood" of $4,000 he received as seasonal indemnity.

(Maj. Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., (P.C., Nanaimo) was not present during consideration of the bill but the reference was obviously to him.)

Capt. Probe suggested a basic pension which could be supplemented by contributions during service.

The annual pension shall be one-fifth of the average pay and allowances received by the contributor during the last six years of his service, multiplied by the number of years of service but not exceeding 35 years.

The widow of a man with more than 10 years service would get one-half his pension. The rate for a dependent child under 18 is one-fifth of that for the widow but not beyond $300. But if the mother also dies that sum can be increased to $400.

PORT CHURCHILL

Says This Sea Route Is Second To None

SASKATOON.—Office of the British cargo vessels at Port Churchill were amazed to find that information provided by British port officials was misleading. Frank Eliason, of Saskatoon, chairman of the Hudson Bay Route Association, said on his return from Churchill.

"One officer showed us British shipping journals which contained stories regarding the sailing of 15 ships for Port Churchill, describing it as 'one of the most hazardous trips ever attempted in modern times.'"

"That was back in 1932 but apparently very little up-to-date information was supplied these men," Mr. Eliason declared.

"Officers told me that they were prepared to enter Churchill at any time for the war would be none on the continent."

WORK BEING RUSHED

OTTAWA.—Trade Minister Macdonald said in the commons wheat participation payments for 1944 certificates are being made and the work is being rushed to completion. "The price of No. 1 Northern is 12 1/2 cents per bushel," he said. "This price covers about 50 per cent. of all the other grades."

WANTS QUIET JOB

BOSTON.—A former German prisoner of war, seeking peace and solitude, has applied for a job as a light-house keeper in Boston harbor, Richard Hohensteint of Schleswig-Holstein wrote authorities that he passed through the port of Boston as a prisoner and would like the job.

BETTER CROPS

LONDON.—Sweden's bread grain crop is estimated at 500,000 tons, an increase of 75,000 tons over last year, a preliminary report quoted by Stockholm radio said.

FOR NORTHLAND

Saskatchewan's Natural Resources Department To Have Better Radio Service

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask.—Ronald Hook, radio engineer for the provincial department of natural resources, said an improved radio communication service permitting communications from a departmental control room here to its 80 ground stations in northern Saskatchewan, will be in operation in a few months.

"By simply manipulating switches in the control room, officials of the department will be able to come into almost instantaneous communication with any of the field staff," Mr. Hook said.

One reason for the change is to improve the efficiency of the forest fire fighting service. The ground stations which include lookout towers, are linked to field men carrying portable radio sets and as a result of the improved radio communication system there will be speedier action in fire suppression in the important stages.

Constant communication will be maintained with the department's radio-equipped planes.

CHINA'S CIVIL WAR

Surprise Blow At Railway Lifeline Carries Fighting Into Manchuria

PEIPING.—Fighting flared in long-quiet Manchuria where Chinese Communists struck a surprise blow at the government railway lifeline from Mukden to Changchun, the capital, independent dispatches said.

Rival armies were reported on the march to battle positions in the vast and vital territory as new clashes broke out in eastern Jehol province, on Manchuria's west flank.

The surprise blow fell near Tieling, 45 miles northeast of Mukden, where the government garrison 10 miles outside the city was surrounded by Communist troops.

Reinforcements moved north out of Mukden and south from Changchun to the rescue of the beleaguered garrison.

The Chinese press carried a variety of reports indicating that soon the civil conflict, confined in recent weeks to north China, might sweep over Manchuria.

Government military observers in Peiping predicted that fighting soon would break out on the southern section of the Changchun railroad south of Mukden, where the Communists are becoming active.

The pilot said he had orders to fly to Udine and back. It was reported here that a flying fortress would henceforth make the run daily.

Violence In India Deplored By Moslems

NEW DELHI.—M. A. Jinnah, Moslem leader, condemned as "brutal and outrageous" the stabbing of a member of the new interim government of India, while the pro-congress Hindustan Times declared in an editorial that "violence is a game at which two can play."

In a letter to his sister, Jinnah said that "political violence apart, I condemn the brutal and outrageous attack" on Sir Shafa'at Ahmad Khan, non-league Moslem member who suffered wounds at Simla.

Jinnah said, in a statement that the "open door" invitation of the viceroy, Viscount Wavell, to the Moslem League to participate in the interim government constituted a "severe blow to the Moslem League and to Moslem India."

Describing the vice-regal appeal as "vague," Jinnah said it contained a fundamental fault in stating that the Moslem League, if aggrieved, could appeal to the federal court. Jinnah contended that there was no machinery for such an appeal and, hence, the viceroy had offered the Moslems nothing.

Meanwhile, Lord Wavell met Bengal top-ranking congress and Hindu Mahasabha leaders at government house in Calcutta to discuss constitutional questions arising from Calcutta's Hindu-Moslem riots.

Mohandas K. Gandhi, spiritual leader of the predominantly Hindu congress party, said that "violence may have a place in life but not that which we witnessed in Calcutta," adding, "assuming of course that newspaper accounts are to be trusted."

IRAQ'S BOY KING VISITS LONDON EXHIBITION—His Majesty King Feisal, 11-year-old king of Iraq, was just like any other youngster when he visited the British Motor Industries London exhibition. He was all eyes for the 50 perfectly-made scale models on display. He gazes at Golden Arrow model.

WILL USE BOMBER

To Carry American Mail From Vienna To Udine, Italy

UDINE, Italy.—With machine-guns loaded and uncovered, a United States four-engine bomber arrived here from Vienna with a cargo of mail and freight—the first American plane to fly the normal route from Vienna since the Yugoslavs shot down two transports earlier this month.

The pilot said he had orders to fly to Udine and back. It was reported here that a flying fortress would henceforth make the run daily.

Defence Lines In The North Under Survey

EDMONTON.—Operation North, Canada's first military exercise in her vast northland within four months, was under way along the vital Alaska highway lifeline, and the Dominion's western army commander in charge bluntly said it was designed "as a start in getting us thinking in terms of defence of our country."

Unlike the snow-jump Operation Muskox across the snowy wastes from Churchill, Man., to Edmonton last May, Operation North will proceed northward along the Alaska highway in a 50-truck convoy to the White River area. It is expected back early next month when its reserve army officers and 50 ranks will be asked for ideas on what Canada might do about her northern defences in case of attack.

Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, commanding general of the Dominion's western army command, made this plain in a spirited briefing to his officers before the take-off for Dawson Creek, B.C. He asked them to "attack this operation as free thinkers" and said maybe Canada already had the best system of northern defence and maybe not—that is what he wanted to decide.

In the event of any hostilities in the northwest, Canada must be ready to defend her vast northern frontier.

Gen. Worthington spoke plain words at the briefing but stressed that they were his own ideas. He expressed the belief that any enemy seeking to strike at Canada's north would come by air and for that reason "we must evolve a new system of defence—one of air-ground patrols."

"I think we should develop a system whereby six or eight main bodies could be flown into any point and landed," the general said. "This may be the preliminary defence of the country."

PRISONERS OF WAR

Germana Escaping In Britain And Trying To Get Home

LONDON.—Increasing numbers of the 40,000 German prisoners of war in Great Britain are escaping and trying to get back to Germany by underground channels.

Seventy-three escapes have been reported in three weeks. Fifteen fugitives still are at large.

Army authorities say the escaped men are helped in some cases by sympathetic British civilians by a "Send the P.O.W.'s Home" campaign. A petition signed by 875 churchmen, members of parliament and others urged Prime Minister Atlee to speed the prisoners release.

Most spectacular of the escapes was that of a former panzer grenadier, Alexander Todd, captured after he reached the French coast in a yacht which his English companion, attractive Mrs. Doris Blake, is accused of stealing.

PURCHASING FLEET

Turkey Is Planning To Buy Some Ships From Canada

CALGARY.—The Turkish government plans to purchase a fleet of 21 vessels from Canada and the United States and the war-converted Canadian "National" Steamships Prince David and Prince Robert have been inspected and will be given consideration, Sheik Gogen, marine superintendent for the Turkish state shipping lines and port administrator at Istanbul, said.

Capt. Gogen passed through Calgary en route to New York. He is one of eight men sent to North America by the Turkish government to purchase or have constructed ships and railroad equipment for his government.

GLOSTER METEOR

Plane That Crashed Near Sudbury Dived Into Mud

SUDBURY, Ont.—Jet motors of the Gloster Meteor plane which crashed in Helen Bar lake, 80 miles west of Sudbury June 29, were embedded 14 feet in the mud of the lake bottom, Royal Canadian Air Force salvage officials said.

When the jet plane, piloted by Flt. Lt. W. Mackenzie, St. Vital, Man., ditched in the lake, the nose with the motors dived into mud at the edge of a sandbar while the tail assembly remained above water.

PLANS LONG VOYAGE

GLOUCESTER, England.—F. W. Horwood, Worcester boat builder, is busy putting the finishing touches to a 65-foot yawl which he plans to sail from Gloucester to Australia. He hopes to make the trip in four months but is prepared to take 10 months for the 15,000-mile voyage.

MAY ABOLISH PASSPORTS

LONDON.—Abolition of considerable modification of visa and passport regulations between Britain and the United States by next summer is considered strongly possible, the Sunday Times said.

THE NEW THING IN HISTORY.

Some Americans might new worlds to conquer, they have been world-conquerors. And since St. Patrick claimed all Ireland for Christ and St. Columba and others sent to Christianize Europe, there has been world conquest in a spiritual sense. Whole nations have been found either with a warlike or a missionary zeal.

Until the Russian Revolution and the rise of Nazism, however, there have never been whole nations fired with a zeal to conquer the world for a social-economic ideal. World conquest for an ideology is a new thing in history. It can be met only by entirely new strategy on the part of Christian-democratic forces.

A mission school or compound in some outlying jungle, or classes in democracy in some occupied land, are hopelessly inadequate in the face of whole nations which have loomed materialistic floods of thinking to capture the hearts and minds of millions. We, too, must do something new in history and become a whole nation of zealous ideological missionaries on the constructive side.

An ideology is not just something we believe, but something we believe so strongly that we live that way ourselves and try to spread our way of living through the world. But we can not spread Christianity while fear, hate or greed have any part in our own lives. We can not spread democracy while we ourselves have government by pressure groups, dictatorship in our own homes, or civil war in industry.

The world's need for bread can not be met till we feel the pinch in our own family larders; And its need for a Christian-democratic ideology can not be met till we each pinch ourselves and wake up to the fact that we ourselves must live that way.

ENGLISH LAVENDER

FOR OVERSEAS

Lavender, the basis for some of the United Kingdom's most famous perfumes, is now being gathered in the chief growing centre, Norfolk, East England. The harvest is exceptionally good and the industry expects to produce a very good quantity of high quality fragrant oil. The bulk of the season's perfume is scheduled for export to territories where "Old English Lavender" still holds an unrivalled reputation. Perfumery exports from the United Kingdom have shown an exceedingly rapid rise in the last year. Their value for the first six months of 1946 was $115,000 compared with only $4,000 for the corresponding period of 1945.

Smith: "Oh, fine. We have furnished one room by collecting soap coupons."

Jones: "Why not furnish the other seven that way?"

Smith: "I can't; they are full of soap."

JEeps NOW A DRUG ON THE MARKET

Frozen out of its market by the current Ottawa order reimposing rigid priority controls, Willys of Canada may have to cut off imports of the civilian "jeep" from the United States. The Financial Post is informed.

Up to July 31, it is reported, the company had been bringing these vehicles into Canada at a rate of 50 to 60 a day. When sale of cars without priority orders was banned, 175 Willys dealers and distributors had about 1,000 jeeps on hand.

Now the company faces an anomalous situation, according to a senior official. Few priority holders are willing to buy jeeps, while farmers, who want them cannot get priority—no more are being issued.

He: "How about taking a little ride in the country?"

She: "I'm too tired tonight. How about running out of gas here in town?"

MORE YOUTH WORK FACILITIES NEEDED TO CUT DELINQUENCY

Toronto—Recreation facilities for the young in Canada are vastly below minimum requirements, it was stated here by Lt. Col. J. Merritt, head of The Salvation Army Property Department for the Canadian Territory.

"The outstanding need of The Salvation Army today is for more buildings and equipment for programs aimed at the reduction of juvenile delinquency," said Col. Merritt. "Though much work among children is carried on by The Salvation Army in the form of Scouts, Guides, Boys' Bands and other group work, there is a tremendous demand for more halls which have gymnasiums and other indoor recreational features and more summer outing opportunities.

"All the recreational facilities in existence today within and outside of the Salvation Army, fall far short of what should be available to provide supervised play and hobby activities," he declared. Swarms of idle young folk roam the street, too often forming into gangs which follow the path to criminality.

"The best place to attack adult criminality is at the source—juvenile idleness leading to a search for amusement that often becomes lawless.

"Working as it does chiefly among the unchurched of the cities and rural areas, The Salvation Army daily sees the great need for the extension of evangelical work, the primary activity of The Army to bring about the restoration to useful life of the strayed. Annually The Salvation Army carries its message of redemption to scores of thousands in Canada."

In its social service field, The Salvation Army operates across the Dominion 92 institutes to help people. Maintenance costs, above income, are met through public subscription.

It is hoped that this year's Home Front Appeal for $2,000,000, to be inaugurated Sunday, September 16, will bring in funds to an amount permitting some extension of facilities.

BIG BIDS FOR NEWSPRINT

South American publishers are offering as high as $300 a ton for newspaper, The Financial Post reports, or about four times the official United States price. This unprecedented situation arises from two simple facts: U. S. consumption is now averaging more than 28 per cent higher than last year (24 per cent more than pre-war), while U. S. production is up only 5 per cent over 1945 (down 20 per cent from 1939), and Scandinavian countries have yet to export a ton of newspaper to the U. S. this year. Pre-war they could be counted on to supply some 500,000 tons annually to the U. S.

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF

Do you know that women's styles run in cycles? Be-fathered hats were the vogue in the gay thirties, and in 1940 they are a fashion fad again. The hat above, which appeared in EATON'S Spring and Summer Catalogue of 1934, compares in style to the smaller editions on display in our military department today. But whether it's 1894 or 1946, people in Western Canada know that the NEW styles always appear in EATON'S catalogues.

A recent meeting with the deputy ministers of education of the three prairie provinces revealed that there is a shortage of certified teachers in each of the provinces for Elementary Schools. In order to meet this shortage the respective departments of education are prepared to issue, subject to the approval of qualifications, temporary teaching permits for the period of a year to the following:

1. Personnel who are in possession of teaching certificates which have expired.

2. Personnel who have grade 12 or higher education but who have not taken teachers training. Your local national employment office will assist you and advise as to the necessary procedure of application.

FRENCH EXPORT FROM CANADA

French Canadian book-publishing, a new industry which sprang into being during the war, is here to stay, states The Financial Post. This year it expects to produce 1,000 titles, and possibly 20 million copies, finding its best market in such European countries as France, Belgium and Switzerland.

TOY IDEA PAYS OFF

Two years ago Doug Blaney of Vancouver lost his patience with the way his year-old son's toys broke or fell apart. He decided to make some of aluminum for him. Today, reports The Financial Post, Blaney and his wife operate a $30,000 toy factory which supplies parts for many eastern Canada producers.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

SHORT MAN

By RAE KERRICK

Copyright
Wheeler Newspaper Syndicate

JACK KERRIGAN walked into the large, bare room and nodded to his assistant, Frank. A group of men and boys were standing around, some staring at the thick mats on the floor, others waiting eagerly, impatiently, for his assistant to start things going.

Whether those men would enroll in the course depended on Frank's opening speech and their free lesson. Frank always took care of his end very well. He started the session with the same old spiel, one that would encourage every one of them to take the course no matter what his reason was for wanting to do so. Jack knew most of their reasons and tailored Frank's speech to fit them. "The reason you're all here," Frank was saying, "is to learn the art of self defence, to learn jiu jitsu."

Frank's voice boomed on, but Jack was not listening to the routine speech. He was hearing rain and remembering last night.

Even in the rain Jack liked walking with Millie. He liked the way she tucked her arm snugly in his, the way her curls bobbed up and down with each energetic step she took. But, most of all, he liked walking with her because she wasn't any taller than he was.

Occasionally, she turned her head to smile at him. She wasn't sore at him any more, he thought. That was swell. A week ago, she had looked as though she hated him. "I don't see any sense in this," she had said as though he'd never said a word. "I look as though I'll never get one." Her shoulders were hunched as though to ward off the rain. "As soon as we pass a telephone I'll try to get one," he told her.

Frank's voice crept back into his consciousness. "When you have mastered that," Frank continued, "you will be able to protect yourself in any fight, whereas formerly the odds have been too much against you to give you a chance of winning."

Jack's thoughts went back to Millie and himself. They had come to a telephone.

She looked up and down the deserted street and said, "I'll wait outside while you phone." But there wouldn't be a cab for fifteen minutes, he was told. He decided not to call again. Millie was alone.

Going outside, he saw a bedraggled moocher standing near her, collar turned up, watching eagerly as Millie rummaged in her purse for some change.

"Scram," he ordered the moocher authoritatively.

Barely turning his attention from Millie's searching hands, the derelict said, "In a minute."

That rankled Jack. Even the beggar wasn't afraid of him. No one had any respect for a short man. It always hurt him to have Millie see the lack of respect people give for some change.

him. But he never missed an opportunity to show he could hold his own. Jack grabbed the man's arm, and, with one swift movement, tossed him over his shoulder. "When I say something, I mean it, see."

Millie rushed over to the man who was sprawled out on the wet pavement. "You didn't have to do that," she almost screamed at Jack. "You'd hurt a poor, helpless man, just to show off. Last week it was that man at the dance, and he didn't even do anything."

"He tried to get fresh with you," "He did not. He only asked me to dance."

He took a deep breath. "Just because he was a big guy, he thought he could cut in on my girl."

"Maybe I was your girl, but I'm not any more. Not any more. You're smaller than most men, all right—smaller inside." White with anger, she walked away.

Frank was winding up. "There is another reason why many of you want to take this course—and you needn't be ashamed of it—it is to win the admiration and love of women because of your ability to protect them. And here is the man who will help you toward that achievement, gentleman, the best jiu jitsu expert in the country, Jack Kerrigan."

TRAIN WATCH MAKERS

The British Ministry of Education is starting a national college for the watch and clock industry now being revived in Britain. The industry now has 10,000 employees, and hopes to manufacture this year a total of 2,000,000 clocks and watches, with plans to produce 5,000,000 next year.

For Johnny's little sister, Betty, Santa has in stock this year a midge-kill electric wasp machine, designed to wash old clothes and mash little Betty's fingers.

It was highly considerate of the toy manufacturers to give pop advance notice of dire things to come. Seeing that there are 125 days of Christmas, pop should have anticipated that future householders will be unable to resist a new job with improved door handles and cigar lighters.

Eighty-three per cent. of man's knowledge is brought to him through the vision.

Vessels Scrapped

Famous Ships of Grand Fleet to Be Discarded

Flagship of the Grand Fleet in 1914-16, the Iron Duke is to be scrapped at last. The dreadnought which carried Lord Jellicoe's flag, at the battle of Jutland in 1916 cheated the wreckers in 1930 when she was one of five British battleships to be discarded under the international treaty of that year. Instead of being scrapped, she was "demilitarized" and became a gunnery training vessel. Her armor was removed, and four of her 10 big guns taken away, and her speed lowered by reducing her boiler power. Now she has arrived at Faslane-on-the-Clyde to be broken up.

Until the Queen Elizabeth was completed in January of 1916, the Iron Duke class headed Britain's list of battleships. Dreadnoughts of 21,250 tons, with 13-inch armor at the beltline, they carried 10 13.5-inch guns and 12 6-inch guns. They cost about $10,000,000 apiece. They were eclipsed by the Queen Elizabeths of 31,100 tons, with eight 15-inch guns and 12 6-inch guns. Today Britain's largest battleship is the Vanguard, 42,500 tons, and said to be a $48,000,000 ship.

The Iron Duke is not the only veteran of Jutland to go to the ship scrapers this year. Last March it was officially announced that the Warspite, of the Queen Elizabeth class, was ticketed for destruction. The Warspite was torridly mauled at Jutland, but was reconstructed and was still doing her part in the Second Great War. She bombarded the Normandy beaches previous to the landing, and joined the eastern fleet in the war against the Japanese.

But the future of even modern battleships is in doubt. The atomic bomb has changed the picture of naval warfare as it has changed the picture of land warfare. The Bikini experiment showed that a single A-bomb can do. The fact is that atomic energy, javalines such as the forces that the nations of the world can no longer rely on armies or navies, but must rely on peace instead.

Preview Of Toys

Manufacturers Tell What Children May Get This Christmas

Now that the Atomic Age has invaded the play-room, father's life is bound to become more and more interesting. If not, night-night.

The toy manufacturers gave a preview in Pittsburgh of what Santa Clause will probably leave in the play room before Christmas in this already too harassed year of 1946.

For Johnny the beautiful gentleman will bring a Buck Rogers death-ray pistol equipped with a shield to protect the little tyke from radioactivity. Or it may be an alarm-ray gun which will squirt 50 rounds of water without reloading, or, if Johnny happens to be a precocious child with a working knowledge of "radar," a new-fangled radar game. Or it may be a parlor jeep guaranteed to do a thorough job on the furniture.

For Johnny's little sister, Betty, Santa has in stock this year a midge-kill electric wasp machine, designed to wash old clothes and mash little Betty's fingers.

It was highly considerate of the toy manufacturers to give pop advance notice of dire things to come. Seeing that there are 125 days of Christmas, pop should have anticipated that future householders will be unable to resist a new job with improved door handles and cigar lighters.

KEEPING UP TO-DATE

The New Yorker says the makers of prefabricated houses foresee the time when people will turn in their old houses every few years for more up-to-date models. It is their hope, apparently, that future householders will be unable to resist a new job with improved door handles and cigar lighters.

Eighty-three per cent. of man's knowledge is brought to him through the vision.

WIRED FOR SOUND

Many Loudspeakers Create Constant Din At Luxembourg Palace

Luxembourg Palace is known to peace conference delegates as the site of the world's best organized uproar. It literally is wired for sound.

Throughout the luxurious building constructed for Queen Marie de Medici a widespread, almost pain-taking distribution of loudspeakers ensures an almost constant din.

If a delegate from Russia, Britain or the United States indulges in an hour-long speech, the recorded translations will haunt him long after he has finished speaking.

He will hear his words in the Assembly, in the corridors, writing rooms, bars and even in the first aid department, if he happens to go there looking for an opiate.

None but the inexperienced open a window in search of respite. In the courtyard and in adjacent streets another battery of loudspeakers shrill forth, summoning vehicles for delegates travelling to and from the building.

Some delegates, perhaps construing the universal clamor as a challenge, provide their own cacophony in the form of the typewriter. Scissors. Peace—it's wonderful.

Denmark's Only Colony

Greenland, The Second Biggest Island In The World

The second biggest island in the world, most of Greenland, lies within the Arctic circle north east of Canada. It is the only Danish colonial possession. Of its area of 736,513 square miles, 705,234 square miles consist of a gigantic ice-cap and only 31,284 is ice-free land. Population, about 15,850, of whom about 400 are Danes and the rest Eskimos. The trade of Greenland is a Government monopoly. Of its area of 736,513 square miles, 705,234 square miles consist of a gigantic ice-cap and only 31,284 is ice-free land. Population, about 15,850, of whom about 400 are Danes and the rest Eskimos. The trade of Greenland is a Government monopoly.

The Eskimo is a merry, friendly people. In the winter they live in igloos, which are huts built partly underground of stones and turves and roofed with turf, and in the summer in light, portable structures. The men are the most skillful boatmen in the world in their kayaks, a kind of very light canoe made of seal-skin stretched over wood or whalebone. The women row much larger boats called umiaks, which, though also made of skins, can carry up to two or three tons. The people's clothes are made of skins, and men, women, and children wear trousers.

Two friends were discussing a new neighbor.

"I believe Mrs. Green is a great gossip," remarked one.

"Yes," replied the other, "she has a keen sense of rumor."

Host: "Talking about Africa makes me think of the time—"

Bored Guest: "Good gracious, you're quite right! I had no idea it was so late. Good-bye."

A city man crawled over a fence only to find himself in a pasture with a vicious-looking bull.

"Here, there," he called to the farmer, "is this bull safe?"

"He sure is," answered the farmer, "I'd run right safer than you are."

"Janitor, you could cool our apartment nicely if you would run less water through the radiators."

"Can't be done, madam."

"What did you have in them last winter?"

Junior—Dad, do you say: "It is me, or it is I?"

Father—Always remember the rhyme: "It is I, said the spider to the fly."

Junior—I see, but couldn't you say: "It is me, said the spider to the flea?"

Lady of the House: "Nora, the window in your room is so dirty you can't see out of it."

Nora: "But, madam, when I want to look out I open it."

"How did Light-fingered Fred get caught?"

"He's getting short-sighted—thought he was turning the knob of a safe and tumbled in the 'Knob Hall'."

Officer: "Is this gun working?"

Rookie in Field Artillery: "No, sir. It's discharged."

"I had an awful headache last night."

"Yes, I saw you with her."

"I understand your sister told you I was a musician?"

"Well, she said you blow your own trumpet."

Speed Fiend: "It's great speeding along like this. Don't you feel glad you're alive?"

Passenger: "That isn't the word, I'm amazed."

Wheat Production

Production In Europe Not Sufficient To Meet Needs

WASHINGTON.—The Agriculture Department said that Europe's wheat production this year will be much larger than last—but still far short of meeting its needs.

Officials said the report indicated that Europe must continue to draw heavily upon the United States and other wheat-producing nations to meet its food needs next winter and spring.

Preliminary production estimates have been received from 12 countries which supplied about 60 per cent. of Europe's wheat before the war. They indicated production this year will be about $30,000,000 bushels.

This would be about 30 per cent. larger than last year's output of 94,000,000 bushels, far below a pre-war average of about 1,115,567,000 bushels. Most of the improvement will be in western Europe and the Mediterranean area.

The Illinois Central, he said, is now awaiting delivery of the first all-electric dining-car—complete with generator, driven by the car wheels and capable of supplying power for everything from the car's stoves to its air-conditioning system.

While streamliners will slip along with either diesel-electric or improved steam locomotives, the customers will be able to relax in seats designed by Prof. E. O. Hooton, head of Harvard University's anthropology department.

The roomettes which will supplant open-section berths will have private toilet facilities, heat-resistant glass windows and chimes to call the porter.

For Greater Comfort

Illinois Central Railroad Plans More Up-To-Date Service

Railroad car doors will open at the touch of a finger. Coach seats will be designed scientifically . . . and the old-fashioned upper or lower berth will give way to the roomette.

This was the prospect drawn for the Kiwanis Club in Chicago as G. G. Truesdale, assistant passenger traffic manager of the Illinois Central Railroad, discussed the future of railroading at a luncheon meeting.

Sketching the development of the roads since the industry pioneers first threw a ribbon of steel across the continent, Truesdale predicted greater speed, comfort and safety at lower cost.

The Illinois Central, he said, is now awaiting delivery of the first all-electric dining-car—complete with generator, driven by the car wheels and capable of supplying power for everything from the car's stoves to its air-conditioning system.

Still Go Aloft

Barrage Balloons Fly Over Chelsea in Radio Wave Test

A London letter to the Ottawa Journal, says: Londoners have already forgotten what a barrage balloon looks like. But not the people of artistic Bohemian Chelsea. Every six hours of the day you go a barrage balloon above the picturesque slightly grimy roof of that Carlyle pub, and even Chelsea folks wonder why. Groomed and manned by R.A.F. personnel, the balloon is used to test experiments with ultra-short radio waves. It is a sort of aerial antenna to the BBC.

A problem often debated but never solved used to be the altitude at which our wartime barrage balloons were flown. That was a close official secret for obvious reasons. But it throws some light on the problem that the Chelsea radio balloon, carrying instruments to register barometric pressure, temperature, humidity, attains a height of 1,500 feet, readings being taken every 200 feet up.

Popular estimates during the war, as to the balloon altitude, varied by miles. But it is difficult to judge accurately, for the balloon is so low that it is almost within reach of the hand. It is only about eight or ten thousandths of a second for your brain to be told about it.

If you burn your finger, it takes only about eight or ten thousandths of a second for your brain to be told about it.

"Scram," he ordered the moocher authoritatively.

Barely turning his attention from Millie's searching hands, the derelict said, "In a minute."

That rankled Jack. Even the beggar wasn't afraid of him. No one had any respect for a short man. It always hurt him to have Millie see the lack of respect people give for some change.

Even in the rain Jack liked walking with Millie. He liked the way she tucked her arm snugly in his, the way her curls bobbed up and down with each energetic step she took. But, most of all, he liked walking with her because she wasn't any taller than he was.

Occasionally, she turned her head to smile at him. She wasn't sore at him any more, he thought. That was swell. A week ago, she had looked as though she hated him. "I don't see any sense in this," she had said as though he'd never said a word. "I look as though I'll never get one." Her shoulders were hunched as though to ward off the rain. "As soon as we pass a telephone I'll try to get one," he told her.

Frank's voice crept back into his consciousness. "When you have mastered that," Frank continued, "you will be able to protect yourself in any fight, whereas formerly the odds have been too much against you to give you a chance of winning."

Jack's thoughts went back to Millie and himself. They had come to a telephone.

She looked up and down the deserted street and said, "I'll wait outside while you phone." But there wouldn't be a cab for fifteen minutes, he was told. He decided not to call again. Millie was alone.

Going outside, he saw a bedraggled moocher standing near her, collar turned up, watching eagerly as Millie rummaged in her purse for some change.

"Scram," he ordered the moocher authoritatively.

DROP THAT PIN

Deploring the continued occurrence of home accidents, the department of national health and welfare, Ottawa, issues a warning to parents against carelessness in leaving sharp objects about the house. Care is urged to ensure that pins, scissors, knives, razor blades and other sharp objects are kept out of reach of young children. Even when bathing or changing baby, mother is urged to close all safety pins and not leave them where the child can pick them up.

FIGHTING FIT

If returning Canadian service personnel look, and actually are, in better health than when they went overseas, it's partly due to the scientific feeding provided in Army, Navy and Air Force, say health authorities. The improvement in general health of the troops is the subject of comment in an announcement by the department of national health and welfare, Ottawa, and emphasis is laid on the importance of vegetables in the overseas diet.
